

Sugar Daddy

by Roberta Stephenson

Some
daddies
are short
and some dads are tall,
Some fish
and some hunt
and some like to play ball.

Some chase a ball
'round a golf course,
Some dads work
as actors and some ride a horse.

Some dads like to fix things
when they are broke

Like dishwashers, sprinklers and bicycle spokes.

Some daddies teach school
and some work at the mall,

Some dads are policemen
and some dads are on call.

Some dads work on computers all day 'till they're tired, Some dads have gray hair and now they're retired.
Some dads are adopted and some are not,
But however we got them we love them a lot.

So whether you fish or hunt or play ball,
Whether you're short or even quite tall, Whatever your role as a Daddy may be,
Today you are a SUGAR DADDY.

We honor you on this

Father's Day

Please know that you're loved

in so many ways.
